HOUSTON, TX (February 1, 2019) – On January 26 and 27, 2019 Nova Medical Centers, the nation’s leading pure occupational medicine provider, held its second annual Providers Summit in Houston, TX.

The theme of the conference was “Connect.” Nova Medical Providers had an opportunity to connect with senior Nova leadership, occupational medicine subject matter experts, conference sponsors, and most importantly...colleagues. The speaker presentations were highly relevant to their occupational medicine practices. This year’s Summit was the first to include CME accredited presentations.

“We believe our continued investment in our medical providers is worthwhile and critical to Nova’s success,” said Ulf Rohde, CEO of Nova Medical Centers. “In addition to the medically relevant topics presented, we were able to provide corporate updates and share our strategic vision for the upcoming year and beyond. Engagement of our medical providers is critical to Nova’s success to ensure the highest quality of care, patient satisfaction, client satisfaction, and patient outcomes.”
